

Session-4 Lab

You are building a user authentication system.

Create a custom exception called InvalidCredentialsException to handle cases where the user provides incorrect login credentials.

Implement it in a sample login method.

(you have to take value from user and if value is not as value you are expecting the throw exception)